Pay and Allowance of Reserve Medical Subordinates on Plague Duty.

Concurring in the remarks of the Accountant-General that the pay and allowance of the reserve medical subordinate detailed for plague duty at Karúr should be borne by the Municipal Council of Karúr.

READ—the following papers :—

From M.R.Ry. V. SUBBA RAO Avargal, B.A., Chairman, Municipal Council, Karúr, to the Secretary to Government, Local and Municipal Department (through the Collector of Coimbatore), dated 6th January 1899, No. 19.

I have the honour to request the favour of the orders of Government as to whether the salary and allowances of a hospital assistant deputed from the reserve staff for temporary plague duty are payable from Municipal funds. The District Medical and Sanitary Officer, Coimbatore, has sent to me for payment the salary bill of a hospital assistant for the period he was in charge of the plague camp in Karúr.

2. On the authority of G.O., No. 1789 L., dated 26th September 1898, I hold that they should be drawn from Provincial funds. A similar question having arisen in Coimbatore, the Accountant-General, to whom it was referred by the District Medical officer, decided that the Government Order quoted above applied exclusively to cholera duty. A copy of the Assistant Accountant-General's letter is herewith submitted.

3. I beg respectfully to submit that, inasmuch as the reserve staff is maintained by Government at the expense of the local boards and municipalities, their pay and allowances should be borne by Government whether the deputation be on cholera or plague duty.

ENCLOSURE.

From the Assistant Accountant-General and Inspector of Local Fund Accounts, Madras, to the Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras, dated 28th November 1898, No. 613—L.F.D.

With reference to your letter to the address of the Accountant-General, dated 4th November 1898, referring, for opinion, letter No. 1064, dated 15th October 1898, from the Chairman, Municipal Council, Coimbatore, I have the honour to state that the pay of the hospital assistant Sekhara Menon should be borne by municipality. The Government Order quoted by the Chairman only refers to cholera duty.

From Surgeon-General C. SIBTHORPE, C.B., F.R.C.P.I., Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras, to the Secretary to Government, Local and Municipal Department (through the Accountant-General, Madras), dated Madras, 9th February 1899, No. 149.

With reference to endorsement No. 105, dated 3rd February 1899, on current No. 129 M. herewith returned as requested, I have the honour to state that the pay and allowance of the reserve medical subordinate detailed for plague duty should be debited to the municipality as the Government Order quoted by the Chairman only refers to cholera duty.

From T. HESKETH BIGGS, Esq., Accountant-General, to the Secretary to Government, Local and Municipal Department, dated Fort St. George, 17th February 1899, No. 790—L.F.D.

With reference to Acting Assistant Secretary's endorsement No. 105, dated the 3rd February 1899, I have the honour to state that, as under G.O., No. 900 M., dated 13th April 1897, the cost of the subordinate medical staff on plague duty should be borne by the local board or municipality concerned, the pay and allowance of the reserve medical subordinate in question appear to be chargeable to the municipality. At the same time there is some force in the Chairman's contention that on the analogy of G.O., No. 1789 L., dated 26th September 1898, Provincial funds should bear the charge in the case of reserve men, and the two orders seem to conflict to a certain extent. On the whole, however, I am inclined to think that the principle laid down in the first-mentioned Government Order should be adhered to, as otherwise Municipal funds will, to a large extent, escape taking any share in the additional expenditure imposed on the public revenues by the occurrence of plague in this Presidency.

ORDER—No. 326 M., dated 8th March 1899.

The remarks of the Accountant-General, in which the Government concurs, will be communicated to the Municipal Council.

L and M. Draft for counterinitial Subject - Re the head to which the salary and allowances of a ~~MM~~ Reserve Hospital Asst on plague duty should be debited.

Note

The question raised is whether the salary and allowances
of a ~~MM~~ Reserve Hospital Assistant deputed for temporary plague duty at the Karur plague camp should be paid from Provincial or Municipal funds. The Chairman, Karur Municipal Council, contends that f.o. No 1789
L dated 26th September 1898 directing that the pay of Reserve Hospital
Assistant deputed to Cholera duty
should be met from Provincial funds, applies by analogy in the event of their deputation to plague duty
also. The Accountant General, however, considers, that the principle laid down in f.o. No 900 M dated 13th April 1897 that the cost of the Subordinate medical staff should be borne by the Local Board or the Municipality concerned, should be adhered to, as otherwise ~~MM~~ Municipal funds will to a large extent escape taking any share

in the additional expenditure imposed on public revenues by the occurrence of plague, and the Local Deputy concurs with the A.S.
