SIR,

With reference to your Proceedings No. 104 dated 12th Ultimo, I have the honor to enquire whether the South Indian Railway Main line trains from the South should not be inspected at Chingleput with a view to detect passengers from Villae and its neighborhood who may have escaped inspection at Tiruvannamalai.

2. In this connection I would venture to suggest that if the inspecting staff at Chingleput is merely to inspect the four trains per day that come to the junction from Conjeveram and Arkham, it might be reduced. It is an expensive staff and at present only does the work that has hitherto been done by a single Hospital Assistant.

3. The plague shed constructed and maintained by the Chingleput Municipality under Rule 24 of the Rules for Combating Plague in Municipalities will be made use of if necessity arises and the provision of the separate accommodation mentioned in para 3 of the Proceedings under reference has (subject to your approval) been deferred for the present.

I have the honour

Respected Sir,

With reference to your honours orders - Verbal and demi official - on the subject of travellers from infected areas leaving the South Indian Railway (Vellore-Villupuram branch) and walking across country to Acharapakam and there taking train for Madras and other places, I beg to report that I had the bookings from Acharapakam carefully watched for some days since by the Revenue Inspector Subramania Iyer who is a trustworthy and careful officer. The result of this does not show that travellers from infected places pass through Acharapakam in the manner suspected. There has been no increase nor the notice in the bookings of passengers from that station since Vellore was declared infected. I have however asked the station master to keep a careful watch over the bookings of passengers and to inform me as soon as there is reason to suspect that travellers from infected parts pass through the station in order to evade the regulations. I shall also visit the station frequently and satisfy myself personally on the matter.

I beg to to state that there is no reason to suspect that persons from Vellore and Arcot Taluhs are travelling by road to Chharapakkam to escape observation at Chingleput. There has been no increase worthy of notice in the number of tickets issued at that station.

The station master has however been asked
