Draft for C. i from the L. and M.
Department (C. Nos 4395 & 4795, L. and M.) A

In f.o. No 479 Finl dated 4th April 1897 it has been directed that the charges for all plague establishments ~~not for government~~ at 4th Railway inspection stations and expenditure in connection with such establishments shall be borne by the State and paid from Provincial funds. Major F. C. Reeves was a plague inspection officer at the Pakala railway station and his pay and allowances form a Provincial charge. No provision was made in the Camp for the Medical Officer's quarters and Major Reeves had to occupy a ^{Railway} bungalow which was then vacant near the plague camp. The expenditure incurred in the way of house rent for that officer is, it is submitted, a Provincial charge and should be paid by Government.

There is no objection to the draft being counterinitialled;

In the C.S.

The PWD (Ry Dept) may perhaps be first consulted as to the equity of the charge. The bungalow was, so far as the papers show, not in use by Ry. officials; & if so, the question seems to arise whether the Ry. Dept. should not, in rare cases like this, incur the question of rent in the interests of the general measures to undertake to prevent the spread of plague - measures which benefit the Railway Co. as much as anyone else.

Another point which has not been dealt with is the whether Major Rivers was entitled to free quarters or to quarters provided at Govt. expense. L & M. may it is thought, be asked to consider this point further

I don't think the Railway will consent to do any thing in this way - They hate plague measures & all unbusiness-like.

31. v. 97.

NOTE FOR THE Secy

It is submitted that the point referred to has been already considered. On receipt of the claim from the Ry, the D.C. asked the Colls whether it was admissible. The Colls replied that the amount "should be paid" by Govt. as in other Ry inspection Camps free quarters are, I believe, provided for the medical officers "in charge". Thereupon, a draft admitting the claim was put up for approval. The medical officers at Kondapalli, Hospet, Tungabhadra, Hindupur, Akhnan, Jolarpet have all been provided with free quarters.
