CHIEF SECRETARY
7-NOV. 1895
GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS

Dear Sir

In the matter of reporting the proceedings of the Legislative Council, Mr Butterworth used to supply the press reporters with copies of speeches and answers made in the Council when extra copies were available; and where they were not so available, to allow them to copy for themselves.

When, however, owing to an impropriety committed by one of the papers, he proposed to withdraw the concession, I pointed out that the more respectable among them should not be deprived of the assistance of his courtesy, he consented to continue the practice, and added that in

Dear sir,

In reply to your letter addressed to the Chief Secy of the 6th Inst., I enclose printed copies of the amendments received from various Hon: Members in connection with the District Municipalities Bill.

I don't see any harm in doing this. The Hindu might just as well get them direct. Perhaps however C.S. will think it objectionable to print copies before they appear on the agenda paper

You are mistaken in assuming that it is proposed to withdraw from the Pres those facilities which have been previously afforded, as regards the reporting of the proceedings of the Legislative Council. The documents to which ~~the Secretary refused~~ your reporters were refused access on the 4th Inst. were the original drafts of the speeches delivered by the Hon: Mr. Grose which however received some alterations and additions at the time of delivery. ~~No copies of~~ It ~~Drafts were available & I was therefore unable~~

I am in doubt as to whether advance copies of the amendments proposed should be given or not. If given to one paper they must be given to all. It is a question whether they should be treated as public property until they appear in the agenda paper. Personally I do not see any particular objection; it would give one an idea of what could be said pro & con, before the

I can not see any objection to copies of all the amendments which are accepted being given to the papers. There is no mystery about them, and as the C.S. points out publicity is only likely to be useful.
Similarly so long as Editors are careful not to make an improper use of them. I see no objection to their being given copies of speeches about to be delivered, it being clearly understood that they will play fair – and also make any alterations wh. may subsequently have ~~been~~ to be made.
What is the impropriety alluded to by the Editor of the Hindu? Of course if any paper does not act properly, the

N O T E for the Chief Secretary

The following revised letter will be despatched to the Editor of the Hindu in the name of the Secretary to the Council.

D.O. Dy 25-11-95

Dear sir,

In reply to your letter of the 6th Instant addressed to the Chief Secretary, I enclose printed copies of the amendments received from various Hon. Members in connection with the Dt. Municipalities Bill.

You are mistaken in supposing that there is ~~ay~~ any intention to withdraw from the Press those facilities which have been previously afforded as regards the reporting of the Proceedings of the Legve. Council. The documents to which your reporters were refused access on the 4th Instant were the original drafts of the two speeches delivered by the Hon.Mr.Grose. No copies of these were available and the drafts received some alterations and additions at the time of delivery. Such portions as were to the best of my recollection in accordance with what the Hon.Member actually said were however read out to the reporters for their assistance and as a matter of fact hardly anything was omitted. They were however warned that I could not guarantee that what I read out to them corresponded exactly with ~~what~~ the speeches, actually delivered.

Where copies of speeches or answers to questions about to be delivered are available, the Press will ~~as~~ ~~heretofore~~ ordinarily be furnished with them. They will, ~~ordinarily~~ however only be given on the distinct understanding that care is taken to carry out any alterations therein which ~~might~~ may subsequently be made at the time of delivery.

Yours sincerely,

To the Editor of the Hindu with amendments.
Dated 25/11

This will do
22/11/95.

N O T E

There is no record of the impropriety alluded to by the Editor of the Hindu, but I happened to be present at the time when Mr. Butterworth spoke to the reporters generally on the subject and to the best of my recollection what took place was that Mr. Butterworth reprimanded one among their number for having made use of a printed copy of the answers to questions containing an answer which was subsequently revised for the purpose of commenting on the reasons by which Govt. was actuated in revising the answers. I have had the back ~~of the~~ numbers of the papers ~~in the file~~ × looked up and ~~have~~ have little doubt that the article marked with blue pencil in the Madras Standard of the 23rd Novr. 1894 is what gave rise to the reprimand. Mr. Butterwoth's rule I believe after that occasion

Has anything ever been said as to their not being published prematurely – or is this not necessary? Of course if these copies are only furnished just before the originals are delivered – no such mischief can occur.

W
26 Nov

This is what it is proposed to do; the reporters will only receive copies in the Council Room

26/11

× Yes this was it. The man got hold of one of the printed question papers in which the correction had been made and then made use of the reply which had been struck out.

22/11

The only copy of an answer or a speech to be given to the Press must be what is actually going to be said. If there is any uncertainty it will be held back. Certainly.

W

Yes – of course nobody wd. dream of letting the Press have a copy of a speech wh. he was not going to deliver was ~~ate~~ not to permit reporters to have access to printed copies of the answers to questions if any alteration ~~had to be~~ was made in them at the last moment. In such cases he however allowed the ~~his~~ legislative clerk to read the correct answers out to the reporters. It is submitted that this practice should be continued. In the event of the original draft of an answer being such as to give rise to adverse comments in the public press, it is undesirable that it should be communicated to the reporters. The same reasoning, it is submitted, applies to the case of speeches except ~~in cases~~ where the Hon. Member who is about to deliver the speech in question expressly states that he has no objection to its communication to the Press. It is proposed therefore in future only to furnish reporters before a meeting with × copies of speeches with the approval of the member by whom they are about to be delivered.

22-xi-95

This I submit is the correct course
