NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., No. 75, LEGISLATIVE, DATED
21st AUGUST 1895.

[SUBJECT.—Alternative nominations by District Boards and Municipalities.]

The President, District Board, Salem, in his letter of 29th July last raised the question whether the Board has power to recommend an alternative nomination, and orders were passed thereon to the effect that District Boards and Municipalities have power generally to issue instructions to their respective voting delegates requiring them to vote according to their wishes under any circumstances which may arise at the meetings of the delegates (Paragraph 1 of G.O., No. 63, Legislative, dated 9th August 1895).

2. These instructions were not issued as a general order, but were only communicated to the Salem District Board agreeably to the orders of His Excellency.

3. Orders are now solicited as to whether it will suffice to issue a general order when the next election takes place (i.e., in 1897) or at any earlier vacancy by death or retirement.

C. R. VIJAYARAGHAVA CHARI—14-8-95.

L. DAVIDSON—16-8-95.

There was no time to issue general instructions before the elections as there are 78 Boards and Municipalities and most if not practically all could not have had time to convene meetings and issue instructions to delegates: in several instances the orders could not even have reached those concerned before the elections had actually taken place.

2. There seems no harm in issuing the order now as it is quite possible that there may be deaths or resignations before the next elections. When these are at hand the order may be embodied in the general instructions.

J. F. PRICE—17-8-95.

I do not see any necessity for issuing the order now. If there should arise any vacancy, the order can be communicated to the parties concerned. But if none such should occur, the order can be embodied in the general instructions, which will be issued previous to the next elections. Possibly some further alterations may recommend themselves in the light of the experience gained during these first two elections, and they might all be incorporated together.
