Collector & H
Magistrate

the master is reshipping his cargo and proceeding on his voyage. He has not reported whether the ship is bound and when he proposes to start. I have wired for this information and will send it on to Government by wire.

5. If the ship has not already started I will request the master to remain at Tukoom pending the order concerning regarding proceeding. Prob-

Enclosed in original together with copies of his three telegrams dated 19th and 20th inst, it would appear that the cause of the stranding of the vessel was that in a dark night the master, not being able to take cross bearings, trusted chiefly to the lead, which was in the hands of a Japanese sailor, who gave incorrect readings. The result was the ship was run aground at a time when the master supposed that he was in athoms of water.
The ship remained aground on the 19th, and was, after taking a portion of the cargo and the crew, removed.
