The errors in L.O. No. 190 Marine of 3.3.97 have all crept in ⁱⁿ printing and are due to faulty examining in the press.

The press sent a proof with certain queries, and this in accordance with the usual practice, being a budget matter, was sent to B. All the points about which the press were doubtful, were answered by B who no doubt assumed that the press had correctly ~~press~~ printed the rest of the matter regarding which they had no doubts.

Submitted with Enata statements. The Press are responsible for the correctness of printed matter and have proof examiners specially sanctioned to examine "proofs".
When in doubt, they refer to the Department, where their doubts removed. The office cannot do more than this.

Kindly say whether you checked "proof" of G.O. 190 Marine, d/ 3-3-97 I remember you passed it to me to answer certain queries from press which I complied with. C.A. W. wants to know who is responsible for the errors in print. No 2 (a) was
original & it would have probably misled the press.
A note has to be put up with these errata on this matter
