The Secretary to Government,
Marine Department,
CHENNAI.

Sir,

With respect to Marine Department, Memorandum, No.272,E, dated 14th April 1897, I have the honor to acquaint you, for the information of Government, that from enquiries instituted it appears that at the principal ports where grain is exported it is shipped in bags and consequently no inspection is necessary. At a few ports it is occasionally shipped in bulk, and the necessary inspection is carried out. At Masulipatam, however, the inspection is not practicable in every case for want of a steam launch, as ships lie at anchor several miles off from shore, and to get at them by means of a sailing boat would involve the Port Officer's absence from his office for hours together, and sometimes for days in the busy season.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your Obedient Servant,

Grain Cargoes

From the Presidency Port Officer, Madras, No. 498/182 G. dated 20th May 1897.

*The Hon. Mr. P. S. C. J. E.*FOR ORDERS.

Amongst the various questions which arose out of the foundering of the Barque "Henrietta Elizabeth", the Honourable Member directed that inquiry should be made as to how far the provisions of Section 32 of Act VII of 1880, regarding the storage of grain cargoes were being complied with.

2. In his first reply, the Presidency Port Officer reported that he believed that port officers acted in accordance with orders of Government on the subject— para 4 of G.O. 283 Marine dated 29th July 1890. He now states that at most ports, grain is shipped in bags, and that inspection is not necessary. There are a few ports, however, at which it is shipped in bulk, and in these cases, inspection is carried out, except at

Masulipatan

Masulipatan where it is not always
