ENCLOSURE.

Programme of the Marine Survey of India for the season 1897-98.

Leaving Bombay early in October, the R.I.M.S. "Investigator" will proceed to the Andamans, calling at Colombo on the way for coal. The survey of the Andaman Islands will then be continued until towards the end of December. As fine weather may then be expected in the Gulf of Martaban, the sounding of the gulf will be continued for the remainder of the season.

The "Nancowry" having small steam power will leave Bombay for the Andamans as early as possible in October so as to get across the Bay of Bengal before the north-easterly winds set in, calling at Calicut, Trincomali, or Colombo as may be necessary for coal. On arrival at the Andamans, she will be employed there until the arrival of the "Investigator" and then work in company with that ship in the Andamans and Gulf of Martaban.
