I do not consider that there is any necessity for the Cyclone Signals night or day when hoisted at the Port Flagstaff to be repeated at the Flagstaff on Fort Saint George. The Signals from the former flagstaff can be distinctly seen by the Shipping and that apparently is all that is necessary.

SUBJECT. Informing that all cyclone warning signals exhibited at the Presidency Port Office flagstaff should be repeated on the Fort St. George Flagstaff.

In connection with this matter I would ask whether any good purpose is served by the numbers of vessels approaching the port being exhibited at the Port Flagstaff. I know of none myself.

Sir,

With reference to Proceedings of Madras Government No. 811 (Marine) dated 17th September 1897, I am desired to report that, in accordance with the Cyclone Code published therein, all Cyclone danger and warning signals exhibited at the Presidency Port Office flag-staff should be repeated on the Fort Saint George flag-staff and, in order that this may be done, the local military authorities, Madras, now bring

3 Globular red glass lamps obtainable from Messrs. ~~Admiralty~~ & Co. Calcutta at Rs.23/- each.	Rs.69.	to notice
1 spare lamp.	" 23.	that the
1 copper kettle.	" 5.	x
1 Cera wax	"15-9-0.	marginally
1 Drum 4'- 2" x 3' for warning signals.	"7-11-0.
Totals	Rs.--- 120-4-0.	noted equipment is absolutely necessary and may be required at any moment and that at present only 3 red lamps kindly issued on loan by the Presidency Port Officer are kept ready for use.

2. The cost of the articles required is Rs.120-4-0 as shewn above and with the exception of the cera wax, the expenditure will not, it is stated, be of a recurring nature.

3. If the above expenditure is correctly debitable to the marine estimates, the Lieut-General Commanding the Forces would be glad if Government would issue the necessary instructions in view to the equipment in question being supplied at an early date, if not, I am to enquire from what source it should be met.
