for his efficient Superintendence of the numerous substantial public Works executed in and about Nellore by the Convicts of the Jail during many years. Before passing orders on this Communication, the Government called for information as to the rate of allowances usually paid in the department of public Works, for the Superintendence of works executed under the care of persons unconnected with the Department.

2 The Chief Engineer now replies to this requisition, and states that there is no fixed rate of remuneration for the labor of Servants of other departments, who may be occasionally employed in the Superintendence of public Works, and that it is customary for Jailors to attend to such duties without extra pay. He represents however that, according to the rate that would be paid to a professional Superintendent, unconnected with the public Service, about 5 per cent of the Estimated value of the Works executed, or Rupees 600, would be a fair Amount.

3 Considering that the ~~Jamadar~~ Jailor is a Servant of the Government, and an unprofessional person, the Government are of opinion that a donation of 300 Rupees ~~will~~ would be a sufficient remuneration; they accordingly authorize the disbursement of this amount, and direct that the same be entered in the contingent expences of the Jail.

Ordered that a
