Paragraph 1. The Government are not prepared at present to accede to the Chief Engineer's recommendation for the grant of travelling allowance to the Probationers of the first and second classes recently arrived from England.

2. Travelling allowance is granted in the Department Public Works only for travelling on public duty, and as the Probationers referred to in this letter are not working men, but have been sent to the provinces to perfect themselves in their profession, all that can be done by Government on the occasion that has called forth the above recommendation, is to disburse the actual travelling expenses incurred by the Probationers in proceeding from Madras. When the Probationers are brought on the regular establishment, they will be entitled to the travelling allowance under the rules of the Public Works Department according to the position they may occupy in that department.
