GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

No.

CHIEF OFFICE OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL OF MADRAS POLICE,
MADRAS, 26th August 1861.

From

W. ROBINSON, Esq.,
Inspector General of Madras Police, and Member of Calcutta Police Commission.

To

T. PYCROFT, Esq.,
Chief Secretary to Government, Fort St. George.

SIR,

1. With reference to your Memo. of the 26th July, I have the honor to submit a Statement giving the particulars required by you for the information of Colonel Bruce, Member and Secretary of the Calcutta Police Commission.

2. The Statement has been prepared in communication with Mr. Pelly who has revised, under the authority of Government, the Revenue and Magisterial Establishments of the whole Presidency simultaneously with the inauguration of the new Police. It shows the precise state of the joint Revenue and Police services, as they stood prior to the introduction of Act XXIV. of 1859 in each District. The new Revenue and Magisterial service, as sanctioned by Government, with its cost is then shown; and, 3rdly, the number of men and amount of money separated from the joint Establishment and set free for the purposes of new Police organization appear in Columns 14 and 15. In the next two columns (16 and 17) appear the number of Jail and Cantonment Establishment actually set free by the introduction of the new Police. I have added a column showing the strength of the new Police as estimated for, and being raised for each District. The number and cost of Sibandi Corps likewise appears under their proper head.

3. Under the old system, the joint subordinate Revenue and Police Establishment was 34,588 men of all grades, maintained at a cost of 30,15,444 Rupees per annum. Of this number 11,016 men and 2,77,352 Rupees per annum were debited to Police and Magisterial. But as the Government is aware this separation was merely conventional. The same Establishment did all duties indiscriminately. The separation of the debit was mere matter of financial form, and it will be observed that in several Districts, such as Coimbatore, Salem, Ganjam and Nellore, even this form had scarcely been attempted. The real number of men or the actual cost of Police administration under the old system cannot therefore be indicated with any certainty.

Indl/61

4. The revision of the combined Establishment has led to 9,829 men being retained at an annual cost of 18,67,848 Rupees for Fiscal and Magisterial purposes. It must be borne in mind that the Tahsildars and their Subordinates are still the Magisterial Officers of the country, although relieved from all executive Police functions.

5. The above revision has set free for Police purposes 24,659 men from the old joint Establishment of whom 19,902 were Peons. The amount made available in each District from the combined Revenue and Police charges appears in column 15. It amounts on the whole to 11,47,596 Rupees. This is not the pay of 24,659 men. The opportunity afforded by the revision was taken for placing the whole Public Establishment, formerly so miserably paid, on a proper footing. While the ranges of the Tahsildars and Native Subordinate Magistracy and their ministerial servants have been increased, their pay has been largely added to; and so on throughout the service. The balance was set aside to meet in part the charge for the new Police. Columns 20 & 21 show the total number and cost of all Establishments relieved. The number of men and actual amount made available for Police purposes therefore, including the Sibandi Corps and Jail Establishment relieved, is 28,185 men and 15,27,105 Rupees. The last columns of the Statement show the entire Police Force as estimated for each District. The total amounts to 25,830 men, at a cost of 29,07,350 Rupees. This includes the incorporated Sibandi Corps, which now disappear entirely as a separate charge. It will be observed that there is a substantial reduction in the number of men engaged or to be engaged in future in the Public Service to the extent of 2,355 men. The additional charge amounting to 13,80,245 Rupees arises entirely from the adoption of a sounder organization, a fairer rate of remuneration, and a more effective supervision in all departments. Besides undertaking the Police duties formerly performed by the Joint Establishments, the Constabulary have, during the past year, relieved 3,550 Military troops, employed upon duties of a Civil nature. They have also taken up the Treasure Escort duty of the country, formerly performed exclusively by the Military.

6. It may here be observed that the Kurnool Horse, has been included amongst Police charges. It is clearly desirable, with reference to Financial and Departmental supervision, that it should stand under this head. It is a useful adjunct to the Police, and its presence had enabled me to keep the Kurnool Constabulary at a very low estimate for so large a District. But it must be borne in mind that this Force was raised and must be maintained as a matter of political expediency, to furnish employment to the numerous dependents of the ex-Nawab's family. In a purely Police point of view the cost to the State is obviously very disproportionate to the actual service rendered by these mounted men.

7. The Estimates for the new Police have been framed in accordance with the Resolution of Government under date 4th Jan. 1859, No. 9, J. D., adopting the organization and rates of pay set out in Para. 52 of my Report under date of 3rd December 1858. An average has been adopted for the grade of Inspectors which will cover with certainty the cost of this rank, when (as is not now the case) we are able to fill it with effective and trained men, in the proportion of one-third in the classes above 100 Rupees, and two-thirds in the lower classes, as sanctioned by Government.

8. In the same manner an average has been calculated for the lower ranks including Head and Deputy Head Constables and Privates, according to the proportion of grades and classes sanctioned in the Order of Government above alluded to. Until men become really efficient for the position of Petty Officers, the Force will necessarily be worked considerably under the Estimate as regards these ranks.

9. I beg to forward a Statement which shows roughly the number of each grade in the Force, and the corresponding rate of pay.

10. I exceedingly regret that I have been unable to meet Lieut.-Colonel Bruce and consult with him upon these matters, as required by Government. On learning that Colonel Bruce had returned from Bombay, I lost no time in rejoining Head Quarters, reaching the Presidency on the 2nd instant. But Colonel Bruce had already proceeded to the Hills, visiting the Head Quarters of 2 or 3 Police Districts on the road. The earnest recommendation of my Medical attendant that I should proceed at once to Sea has forced me to avail myself of my leave previous to his return. This must be my excuse for troubling Government with details which will enable them, should they see fit, to supply information to Lieutenant Colonel Bruce. I need scarcely add that I shall be glad to proceed to Calcutta on my return, should my presence be required.

11. Colonel Bruce requested my Personal Assistant to fill up a Form, a copy of which I beg to submit to Government with a memorandum which I have prepared, remarking on the different columns.

MEMORANDUM on the Forms prepared by Colonel BRUCE, intended to show the state of the Police Force and expenditure prior to 1st May 1860, or before the new Police organization was taken in hand.

1. The first two Columns cannot be filled up with any accuracy. The Revenue Magisterial and Police duties of the country were, under Regulation XI. of 1816, performed by the same Establishment. Tahsildars were the Revenue Collectors, Committing Magistrates and Chief Inspectors of Police; and their Deputies and Subordinates, whether termed Ameens, Peishkars, Tarafdars, Samatdars, &c., were for the most part Sub Officers of Police, under Regulation IV. of 1821, and were engaged on both Police and Fiscal duty, though borne on the Establishment as Revenue servants only. Even amongst the lowest Officials, the Peons, the same confusion existed; and in many Districts, such as Coimbatore, Salem, Ganjam, Nellore, scarcely an attempt was made to distinguish Police and Revenue servants, even for form sake, in the financial Statement. When, therefore, we return, as Police, only the 11,016 men and 9,77,852 Rupees, shown in the accounts under the head Police, we give a wholly erroneous impression as to the body of men and cost to the State of the Police administration as it stood before. Even this return, under head of Police, includes Magisterial charges, which properly belong to Judicial and not Police charges. But, from the fact that the joint functions were exercised by one and the same individual, this ingredient of error cannot be eliminated.

2. "Revenue Police" is a still less appropriate item. There is no such thing in any single District in this country. There was doubtless much Police duty really performed by the Officers carried on the returns as Revenue Establishment. But to enter the Revenue Establishments, or any part of them, under this head could only mislead generally, and give rise to wholly erroneous deductions. For full information on all these matters, I beg to refer to my letter dated 26th Instant, to the Chief Secretary to Government. I have directed my Assistant to leave this Column blank—filling up the "Criminal Police" Column with the return of the old (though wholly unreliable) return of Police which as shown in the former Financial Statement, and described in this letter.

3. There is no river Police in this Presidency, nor special road or Ferry Police.

4. There is no "Chowkeydaree Police" such as that organised in Bengal under Act 20 of 1856. I understand that Colonel Bruce wishes the Village Police of the Madras Presidency to be entered under this head. I therefore forward to Government the best information we have on the subject. But the Madras Village Watchers and the Bengal Chowkeydars are in a very different position. The Chowkeydar is a regularly nominated Officer, adequately remunerated, receiving his salary with certainty, and holding rights and privileges protected by Law. The Chowkeydar Force under Act 20 of 1856 is small, and well defined. It is scarcely necessary to state that the exact contrary obtains with the Madras Village Police in all its relations. Confusion pervades the entire system of Village Police as now existing. The mere numbers as shown in the Return frequently represent whole families or even races of subsidised thieves, as for instance 8,000 Marawars in Tinnevely and 6,500 Kallars in Tanjore. Only a limited portion of these men perform actual service at any one time. The members of a family distribute their hereditary duties amongst themselves, and according to their own pleasure. In no District is there any defined system of duty, and Police functions in particular have been almost entirely thrown aside. The amount of remuneration also as shown in the Statement is quite unreliable. Here, as in other points, all is confusion. The Inam land at first assigned for a particular service has become subdivided amongst the numerous members of the original families. From the changes and diminutions that thus occur, added to other causes consequent on the system, it is scarcely exaggeration to say that half the Inam land has become unculturable, while some has entirely disappeared. The fees are either not realised at all, or in a very precarious manner. To attempt to fill up an exact return under these circumstances must lead to wholly erroneous conclusions, both as to the numbers of the Village Police, and the amount of Funds expended in their remuneration. I have therefore directed my Assistant not to fill up the Return under this head, but I beg to supply the Government with this information separately, in order that if they see fit it may be furnished to Colonel Bruce with this explanation. The object of the Act now under preparation is to correct this and introduce a system similar to the Chowkeydar system of Bengal. Until this is brought into operation nothing can be accurately stated as regards the working of the Village Police of the Presidency.

5. "Chuprassies and Orderlies" formed no part of the Police Establishment in this Presidency. They were the personal and Office attendants of the Collectors and Magistrates, Judges, &c., and are respectively included in the charges of their proper Departments. Such as belonged to the Police have been included under the head of "Criminal Police." The remainder are properly charged to Judicial and Revenue expenses; and do not, as I believe, come within the scope of the Police Commission, of which I am a Member. The scrutiny of this class belongs to other Departments of Government:—With reference to this matter, I may add that these Establishments have been most carefully examined and reduced to the lowest possible scale on the revision and separation of District Establishments undertaken by Mr. Pelly; and they are included in the 9,829 men alluded to in my letter of this date as retained in the Revenue Establishment. I append herewith a Statement of the number of Police Orderlies brought upon the New Constabulary Establishments and included in the Estimates—also of the number of Constables for the protection of Courts, &c., with reference to Government Order No. 408, F. D. dated 6th Aug. 1861. These alone, as it appears to me, can be included in the Detail required by the Police Commission. I am induced to make these observations, because I notice that a large number of Chuprassies, Orderlies, &c. in no way whatever connected with the Police, have been included in the Returns sent to Lieutenant Colonel Bruce. And I fear that confusion may arise from the Police Commission, of which I am a Member, becoming mixed up in matters which I do not think were delegated to us or properly belong to our cognizance.

6. The Government having resolved that the preventive and protective duties of the Salt Revenue Establishment shall be undertaken by the Police, I have directed my Assistant to fill up the column under the head "Salt and Customs Police" with the number of the present Salt Revenue Peons, and I herewith submit a Memo. of the estimated number of Constabulary required to supersede these Peons in the several Districts for which these Estimates are completed. It will be observed that the Estimates for several Districts are still unprepared. As soon as I am able to visit the Districts, these will be prepared in communication with the local Officers.
