1. With reference to paragraph 13 of the Orders of Government, dated the 24th January last, No. 103, I have the honor to state that the item "savings in the establishments of Public Offices" therein alluded to, is entered in the form of Budget Estimates received from the Auditor General of India, and it appears not only under the head XV, "Miscellaneous," also under other heads as shown in the margin,* and is intended to exhibit savings ascertained subsequent to the Audit of Bills by the Civil Paymaster, as marginally† indicated. The full amount passed, being debited to the proper heads of charge, and the savings or subsequent vacancies, &c., ascertained after submission of the bills, being credited per contra, to the proper heads of receipts. This course is necessary to obviate any difference between the Civil Paymaster's Registers and the Collector's Treasury accounts.

The Govt in para 16 of their order dated 22d January 1862 stated that the Share Savings in the Establishments of Public Offices" be struck out of the Budget but the Actg Accountant General states that it is entered in the form of the Budget Estimate procured from the Auditor General of India and that it will be frequently found necessary hereafter in consequence of the Government withdrawing the objection by them to the Items in question.

I do not

I think our objection was a correct one that allowance for a full establishment should not commence until the appointments actually vacant had been filled up, but I suppose it is too late to do anything further in the matter this year.
