The orders of the Supreme Government quoted by the Civil Paymaster prohibit sanction being granted to the disbursement of salaries in excess of sums allowed by the Government of India for gazetted appointments only & and they cannot therefore be held applicable to the case of the Surveyor & Lascars whose employment was authorized in Revolati 21st September 1863. ~~No~~ No 2736. Further, Para 2 of those orders would appear to provide for increase in the cost of the lower grades of Establishments being sanctioned when necessary, the only restriction being that the aggregate allowed by the Government of India is not to be exceeded. In the present case there will be no excess of the aggregate, the extra charge having been authorized from savings, which the Consulting Engineer Irrigation Company is satisfied will be amply sufficient to cover it. The Government further fails to see that any objection can be urged on the ground that the savings are such as are expected from gazetted appointments. Whilst the orders of the Supreme Government prohibit salaries in excess of those sanctioned for gazetted appointments to be fixed, they do not forbid the appropriation of savings from that source in the manner proposed.
