Proceedings of the Madras Government, Public Works Department,
11th January 1867.

No. 222. Read the following Endorsement of the Superintending Engineer, 7th Division, dated Coonoor, 29th December 1866 :—

Read the following letter from the Assistant Engineer, in charge North Wynaad Ra[illegible] to the Superintending Engineer, 7th Division, dated Manantoddy, 24th December 1866, No. 208 :—

1. I have the honor to report, for your information, that the current year's allotment for the new Periah Ghaut (Rupees 17,613) will most likely be all expended within the month of January 1867, when two months of this official year will still remain, in which money could be laid out to advantage on this work, and considerable progress made towards the opening of the Ghaut to full width, while its opening to twelve feet, for carts, could be actually accomplished.

2. But if further funds cannot be provided, I shall probably, in the middle of next month, have to break up my gangs and disperse the establishment, which, I would submit, should be avoided, if possible, as long as the season permits work on the Ghaut. Maistries and men are now to a certain extent trained to their work, and it would be an advantage to be able to keep them at it, until the setting in of the unhealthy weather, i. e., after February.

3. I therefore beg that you will be pleased to inform me, whether I may reckon upon a further allotment of funds for the new Periah Ghaut, and leave my present arrangements and gangs undisturbed for the next two months at least, or whether such additional funds are not likely to be forthcoming, in which case I must prepare to bring the work and accounts to a close.

4. I beg to add that I could easily and to advantage spend from Rupees 7,000 to Rupees 8,000 in excess of the allotment on the Ghaut, before the close of this year.

Submitted to Government, with recommendation that an allotment of Rupees 7,500 from Income Tax funds, if available, be made; no other funds being available in the 7th Division from which a transfer could be effected.
