Between Narasimha & Paleke there is already a considerable bank of mud along the Bank in the dry season, but which the bank being clay in many places is impassible after rains. There is also a small amount of heavy traffic between villages situated along the Bank of the Canal, which is only prevented from increasing by the Bank being rough & unsanded. It at any time the channel is clear numerous bullockies are brought over. There is also part of the main line of Road communication in the district from
