In a subsequent Order (No. 2,481, 28th July,) Superintending Engineers were informed that the restrictions imposed in Proceedings of the 24th June applied to works which had not been specially directed to be proceeded with after that date, and that in the event of any works being in progress without such authority, they should at once be stopped. These orders reached the Superintending Engineers early in August, and, as soon after as possible, operations on all these buildings were suspended. The orders of the Government of India, negativing the application for a special allotment for Jails is now under the consideration of this Government, and as soon as orders are issued, measures will be taken for adjusting the outlay incurred without appropriations. Designs for Talook Cutcherries and Subsidiary Jails having met with the approval of Government, the construction of most of these buildings on those designs was last year authorized to be proceeded with in anticipation of sanction to the estimates.
