No. 475.

To

G. ROBERTSON, Esq, C. E.

CIVIL WORKS, No. 24.

SIR,—In continuation of my letter of the 23rd February 1871, No. 482, I am directed to forward the accompanying papers, from which you will observe that the Government of India having called for a report on a proposal to construct a safe anchorage on the Coromandel coast as a substitute for the dangerous roadstead at Madras, by improving the means of shelter to be found at the spot known as Blackwood's Harbour, they were informed that the subject would be referred to you on your arrival at this Presidency. I am accordingly to request you will be good enough, in the course of your examination of the port of Madras, to take the opportunity of favouring the Government with your opinion of its capabilities and of the expediency of adopting any measures for its improvement.
