Proceedings of the Madras Government, Public Works Department, 9th February 1871.

No. 228. Read the following letter from the Acting Consulting Engineer for Railways, to the Secretary to Government, Public Works Department, dated Madras, 25th January 1871, No. 39:—

I HAVE the honour to report that, a telegram having been received by the Agent to the effect that the temporary road across the Cheyaur would probably be restored by midday yesterday, I proceeded by the morning train to the river. I found the roadway made up, and the piers of the openings so far renewed that, after running an engine over twice at moderate speed, I agreed with Mr. Robinson, the Deputy Chief Engineer on the spot, that traffic might safely be carried on again.

2. We then took the up-train over, and returned shortly after in the down-train. Some more protection will be afforded by throwing in rough stone; but the water has now nearly all run off, and the river will still be carefully watched. Strict orders were given yesterday that trains should proceed at present at the rate of only two miles an hour.

3. The rise of the river on the night of the 19th instant was made known without any loss of time. A watchman was placed in a hut in the middle of the bed of the river, and, when the water disturbed him, he was effectually roused to give information.

I have the honour to report that a telegram having been received by the Agent to the effect that the temporary road across the Cheyaur, would probably be restored by midday yesterday, I proceeded by the morning train to the river. I found the roadway made up, and the pier of the opening so far renewed that, after running an engine over!

our train, at moderate speed; I agreed with Mr Robinson the Deputy Chief Engineer on the spot, that traffic might safely be carried on again.

2 We then took the up train over, and returned shortly after, in the down train. Some more protection will be afforded by throwing in rough stone; but the water has now nearly all run off, and the river will still be carefully watched. Strict orders were given yesterday, that trains should proceed at present at the rate of only 2 miles an hour.

3 The rise of the river on the night of the 14th inst, was was made known without any loss of time. A watchman was placed in a hut in the middle of the bed of the river; and when the water disturbed him, he was effectually roused to give information.
