Forty-two thousand and sixty-five Rupees and six Annas.

17th February 1871, soliciting sanction to an expenditure, as per margin, of Rupees 47,860 for preliminary expenses in connection with the extension of the Great Southern of India Railway to Tuticorin, and, in reply, to state that the Government of India are of opinion that the monthly sum of Rupees 10,516-5-6, sanctioned on account of Establishment in my No. 143-R., of the 30th January last, for the three months ending 31st January 1871, should suffice if continued for the next four months ending 31st May 1871. Sanction is therefore given to an expenditure of Rupees 42,065-6-0, and not Rupees 47,860, as applied for.

2. Should however the actual lockspitting of the line be taken in hand before the 31st May 1871, a supplementary estimate for the necessary additional establishment can then be submitted without detriment to the progress of the works.

3. This sanction has been registered as No. 26-M. R. of 1870-71.
