To,

The Inspecting Engineer for Civil and Military Buildings

Sir,

to In reply to your No. 565 dated 10th instant, I have the honor to report that the old Barrack, at Chinglaput has been occupied for some time past by the Police Department - and that there is no other house available for the Inspector.

The Barracks are old and the feet of the rafters buried in the walls are in many cases rotten. The Range Officer with a view to economical repairs proposes to carry the existing rafters by a purlin resting on brackets which will take the ends of the rafters within the walls.
The proceeding is a very common one and enables us to use existing material for some years.

Similarly replacing bad couples will enable us to use those which are still good. If we are to rest the rafters on purlins extending from from one partition wall to another these latter must be new and the good couples must be thrown away as they will fetch nothing at auction.

If this however is preferred it may perhaps be better economy to build entirely new quarters - as the walls of the present building are low and it is badly arranged and ventilated.

I have the honor to be

Encls 2

Enclosed I have the and reports that the quarters at Chingput have been occupied for some time finally the Police Department of there is no other available for the purpose.

Specifications of Work to be done in repairing the Invalid Barracks in the Fort of Chingput.

As the building is an old one & as it has not been thoroughly repaired for many years and the timber of the roof & beams there are but few of the couples sound and, still fewer of the peers. It therefore requires one half new couples and $\frac{3}{4}$ peers with $\frac{1}{8}$ new ties and new boards.

$\frac{1}{2}$ provided in the Est.

The work shown in the Estimate is intended to replace that portion of the rafters on the top of the walls which will be removed when the roof is being shifted.

The plastering estimated for will also replace ^{what it} ~~the~~ will be necessary disturbed in executing the repairs.

The Teak wood Purlins & brackets must be put up under the heels of the rafters, the brackets going through the walls & the purlins resting on them, this will prevent the necessity of renewing all the couples, many of the latter being decayed where they are inserted in the walls but quite sound outside.
