19th November 1875.*

No 456.

Read the following papers —

From Major-General M. K. KENNEDY, R E, Secretary to the Government of Bombay, Public Works Department, to Major-General G. W. WALKER, R E, Secretary to the Government of Madras, Public Works Department, dated Bombay Castle, 5th October 1875, No 1,127

WITH reference to your letter, No 148, dated 18th March last, a reply to which has been delayed through oversight, I am directed to forward, for the information of the Madras Government, the accompanying copy of a report, No 3,344, dated 2nd instant, from the Consulting Engineer for Railways, on the subject of accommodation available for travellers at Shahabad Station

REPORT

THE waiting-rooms at Shahabad would probably accommodate three Europeans and three ladies for the night, but there are no beds provided, benches only are available. In the refreshment-room meals are provided at certain specified times, but there would be no difficulty in arranging for meals with the messman at any hour passengers might wish. Ladies would be left undisturbed in their waiting-room, but gentlemen would have to put up with the drawback of their sleeping accommodation being provided in the refreshment-room. The station is furnished with a bath-room and excellent lavatories. From four to six may be put down as the average number of first and second-class passengers who alight at the station, and most of these, the Agent reports, go to the hotel.

2 The hotel makes up four beds, but the rooms are small and uncomfortable. A second one is being built, and will be ready in about a month.

3 It also is to have four bed-rooms and promises to be a better hotel than the other.

4 The table kept at the present hotel is very fair, when the second hotel is opened passengers will, it is believed, always find sufficient accommodation.

the honor to state that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief has no remarks to offer, further than that in the station building, or at either of the two hotels, the families of officers travelling with troops would apparently find no difficulty in obtaining the necessary accommodation during their short stay at that station.

2 Shelter for troops is otherwise provided for in the rest camp.
