MEMORANDUM

In returning the letter from the Manager and Acting Chief Engineer, Madras Irrigation and Canal Company, No. 115, dated 18th ultimo, received under Chief Engineer's docket, No 77, dated 30th idem, the undersigned has the honor to say that he ventures to think that the travelling charges and other expenses paid by the Irrigation Company to Mr McKenzie, late a Store-keeper in their employment, should, for the following reasons, be recouped by the Capital Account of the Company to the Revenue Account and carried to the items disallowed head in the Capital books

2 It is not suggested in this correspondence that the retrenchments were made in error. It must therefore be the case that the sums objected to were paid to Mr McKenzie contrary to rules, and if the Company cannot recover the overpayments either from the officer who received the money or from the officer who paid it in error, it seems only just that the Company should bear the loss. If the payments be allowed to remain in the Revenue Account, the Company will practically have transferred to Government the loss arising from the negligence of their own servants
