Sir.

A chancel is being added to the church of St. Stephens at this station. Some marble corbels, stained glass windows, encaustic tiles and an organ are being obtained from England.

The whole of the cost of the improvements and of the above articles is being defrayed out of private monies to the extent of nearly 1000 £. I have the honor to request that Government be solicited to defray the cost of the customs duties on these articles which have been ordered from England and are expected shortly. The articles are

Encaustic tiles	30 £ worth.
40 Marble Corbels	60 £ worth.
2 Stained glass windows each 9' x 2'
An organ costing 200 or 300 £

I have the honor to be.

Sir,

Your most obedient servant.
