Proceedings of the Madras Government, Public Works Department, 17th January 1877. No. 145.

No. 282. Read the following letter from Major J. G. STEEL, R.E., Officiating Under Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department, (Railway,) to Major-General W. WALKER, R.E., Secretary to the Government of Madras, Public Works Department, (Railway,) dated Fort William, 11th January 1877, No. 46-R. :—

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 2,954, dated the 2nd November 1876, submitting the Returns of Employés on the Madras and South Indian Railways on the 30th September 1876, and the Returns of Casualties amongst the European and East Indian employés for the year ending with that date.

2. In the Casualty Return (No. 1) of the Madras Railway under the heads "General Administration, &c.," and "Traffic and Telegraph Departments," the number of East Indians and Europeans respectively employed appears to have been obtained by adding the total number of casualties as shown in the Return No. 1, to the number of employés in the service on the 30th September 1876 as shown in the Numerical Return.

3. The same course has been followed in the Casualty Return (No. 1) of the South Indian Railway in giving the number of Europeans employed in "General Administration, &c.," and the number of Europeans and East Indians employed in the "Engineering Department." I am to point out that the Numerical Return should show the actual number employed on the 30th September, and the Casualty Return No. 1 the average number of persons employed during the year ending with that date.

4. In the Casualty Return (No. 1) of the South Indian Railway under the head "Locomotive and Carriage and Wagon Departments," the number of East Indians is shown as seventy, and the total number of casualties amongst them as eighteen, making a total of eighty-eight, which agrees exactly with the number shown in the Numerical Return. I am to inquire whether the number (88) in the Numerical Return is correct.
