The whole of these establishments have never been fully employed, and probably will never be fully employed, but it will save much trouble and reference if Government will be pleased to sanction them at once.

I have found it necessary, in order to make up as much as possible for the inexperience of the Officers and Overseers on the canal, to transfer experienced persons from the regular District Establishment to most of the above temporary offices, and to supply their places by persons such as I could get capable of doing their duty under the more experienced guidance of the officers and subordinates of the regular establishment. I request that Government will be pleased to give general sanction to these arrangements, to enable the Examiner to pass the salaries of the persons temporarily employed on the regular establishment, as substitutes for those members of the regular establishment who have been transferred temporarily to the canal.
