The Travelling Allowance rules provide that when the urgency of the duty justifies such an arrangement, the Chief Engineer may order an Officer subordinate to join a mess post ready equipped for duty in which case cost of transport of horse and of camp equipment would be met by the State; but the order must be given beforehand and the bill must be submitted by a certificate signed by ^{Sub. or} Engineer to the effect that a horse & camp equipment were so conveyed, and care should be taken that the charge incurred is not out of proportion to the object to be attained.

In this case Mr. Sub-Engineer Selton appears to have brought his horse and tent before receiving the order, and consequently the sanction of Govt. should be obtained.
