on the petty establishment of this office, was appointed by me as a temporary

Overseer in connection with the famine relief works at the Gunpowder Factory. I found him to be a hard-working, steady and intelligent man, and he has proved himself a good man on an emergency. He took in hand one of the most difficult and hopeless looking pieces of work on the junction canal at the end of last year and carried it to completion quickly and well.

2. I consider Etherajooloo Naidoo a valuable man, and recommend that he may be brought on to the strength of permanent establishment of Overseers as a special case, as he has not passed the test required for Overseers.

3. His service in this department extends over a period of ten years, during which time he has superintended and completed several important buildings at the Presidency.

4. Testimonials which he has obtained from several officers under whom he has served are herewith enclosed in original.
