From Colonel H. K. BURNE, Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, to the Secretary to the Government of Bombay, Military Department, dated 5th March 1879, No. 533 A.

Furlough.
Regulations.

In reply to your letter, No. 1,712, dated the 28th December 1878, I am directed to state, for the information of His Excellency the Governor in Council, that paragraph 10 of the Secretary of State's despatch, No. 119, of the 9th May 1878, merely lays down the rule that the Furlough Regulations of 1868 should not be altered in such a manner as to affect those officers who had elected them in preference to other rules which they were entitled to choose, and it was in accordance with this view that G.G.O., No. 991, of 1876, was issued.

2. The officers who elected the Regulations of 1868, whilst these rules allowed furlough pay at the rate of 2s. to the rupee, are still permitted to draw furlough pay at this rate, but the officers who elected the rules after the modifications published in G.G.O., No. 588, 1st July 1871, as well as those officers who were compulsorily brought under the rules, have no claim to furlough pay at the higher rate of exchange.

3. The first part of paragraph 10 of the despatch lays down that Government has a perfect right to annul or modify any regulations it pleases in ordinary cases, that is, when the officers concerned had no choice but to accept such rules. The officers who joined the Staff Corps on or after the 1st of July 1868 had no option in the election of furlough rules, and were therefore excluded from the concession made in G.G.O., No. 991, of 1876, to those officers who might have elected other rules, and G.G.O., No. 988, of 1878, is merely an extension of the concession made in 1876.
