GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

23rd March 1881, No. 1703.

Volunteer Corps—Drill Instruction.

Read the following papers :—

No. 328. From Lieutenant-Colonel T. ROSS CHURCH, Commanding Madras Volunteer Guards, to Colonel E. L. HANKIN, Acting Secretary to Government, Military Department; dated Fort St. George, 15th March 1881, No. 482.

I have the honor to request you will solicit the sanction of Government to my forming again this year a camp of exercise for the Volunteers of the regiment under my command during the Easter holidays from the 16th to the 21st proximo, similar to that approved of in G.O.G., 8th March 1880, No. 1517.

2. I purpose having the camp this season at Pallávaram, as that place has many local advantages, and I have selected a spot near the European Barracks which is in every way suitable, for, if the military authorities have no objection, the cook-rooms, wells and latrines attached to the barracks will be available, and it is also close to the rifle range. Application will be made to the Officer Commanding the Centre District to place the rifle ranges and necessary buildings at my disposal.

3. On the last occasion, the Agent and Manager of the South Indian Railway was good enough to have the regiment carried free in a special train to Guindy and back, and allowed the Volunteers to travel to and fro on passes bearing my signature, and I anticipate he will be equally obliging this year on my applying to him after obtaining the approval of Government. The stone trains, which run from the Beach to Pallávaram and stop close to the range and proposed site of the camp, will be a great convenience if the Agent, South Indian Railway, will kindly allow the Volunteers to travel by them.

4. I solicit sanction for the following :—

(a) The issue of free rations to Volunteers remaining in camp on the scale allowed to British troops, and the entertainment at the expense of the State of a complement of cooks as authorised by the Government of India in "India Army Circular—Volunteer Corps—Clause 100, July 1880."

(b) The supply of tents and the necessary camp equipment and furniture, and carriage for the same. Also puckallies, lamp-lighters, sweepers, toties, and coolies for filling bath tubs, as supplied to British troops when in camp.

(c) The supply by the Commissariat Department of malt liquor on payment.

(d) That, under the orders of the Right Honorable the Governor in Council, the Heads of the various Departments under Government be requested to grant the Volunteers in their offices the necessary leave in excess of the Easter holidays. As the annual regimental rifle meeting would be combined with the camp, the usual application for leave on that account would not be made.

5. The Volunteers are almost unanimous in their wish for a camp of exercise, and as there are many things which can be learnt in camp which it is impossible to teach on the parade ground, and all ranks derived both pleasure and benefit from the one held last year, I trust the Government will accede to my request.

6. The date fixed upon is late in the season, but as the Railway Volunteers could not join a camp at any other time but during public holidays, it was impossible to arrange otherwise.

7. The daily attendance at the camp would be about 300 men.

Read the following papers :—

No. 328. From Lieutenant-Colonel T. ROSS CHURCH, Commanding Madras Volunteer Guards, to Colonel E. L. HANKIN, Acting Secretary to Government, Military Department ; dated Fort St. George, 15th March 1881, No. 482.

I have the honor to request you will solicit the sanction of Government to my forming again this year a camp of exercise for the Volunteers of the regiment under my command during the Easter holidays from the 16th to the 21st proximo, similar to that approved of in G.O.G., 8th March 1880, No. 1517.

2. I purpose having the camp this season at Pallávaram, as that place has many local advantages, and I have selected a spot near the European Barracks which is in every way suitable, for, if the military authorities have no objection, the cook-rooms, wells and latrines attached to the barracks will be available, and it is also close to the rifle range. Application will be made to the Officer Commanding the Centre District to place the rifle ranges and necessary buildings at my disposal.

3. On the last occasion, the Agent and Manager of the South Indian Railway was good enough to have the regiment carried free in a special train to Guindy and back, and allowed the Volunteers to travel to and fro on passes bearing my signature, and I anticipate he will be equally obliging this year on my applying to him after obtaining the approval of Government. The stone trains, which run from the Beach to Pallávaram and stop close to the range and proposed site of the camp, will be a great convenience if the Agent, South Indian Railway, will kindly allow the Volunteers to travel by them.

4. I solicit sanction for the following :—

(a) The issue of free rations to Volunteers remaining in camp on the scale allowed to British troops, and the entertainment at the expense of the State of a complement of cooks as authorised by the Government of India in "India Army Circular—Volunteer Corps—Clause 100, July 1880."

(b) The supply of tents and the necessary camp equipment and furniture, and carriage for the same. Also puckallies, lamp-lighters, sweepers, toties, and coolies for filling bath tubs, as supplied to British troops when in camp.

(c) The supply by the Commissariat Department of malt liquor on payment.

(d) That, under the orders of the Right Honorable the Governor in Council, the Heads of the various Departments under Government be requested to grant the Volunteers in their offices the necessary leave in excess of the Easter holidays. As the annual regimental rifle meeting would be combined with the camp, the usual application for leave on that account would not be made.

5. The Volunteers are almost unanimous in their wish for a camp of exercise, and as there are many things which can be learnt in camp which it is impossible to teach on the parade ground, and all ranks derived both pleasure and benefit from the one held last year, I trust the Government will accede to my request.

6. The date fixed upon is late in the season, but as the Railway Volunteers could not join a camp at any other time but during public holidays, it was impossible to arrange otherwise.

7. The daily attendance at the camp would be about 300 men.
