No. 142.

Read—the following letter from Colonel R. MURRAY, Director-General of Telegraphs in India, to the Secretary to the Government of Madras, Public Works Department, dated Simla, 1st August 1882, No. 1209 :—

With reference to the correspondence regarding the testing of lightning conductors, ending with your No. 1432 W. of the 7th June 1882, I have the honor to inform you that I am in communication with the Inspector-General of Military Works, with a view to compiling from the last War Office Circular and the recent Report of the Lightning Rod Conference, a code of rules for the erection and testing of lightning conductors.

2. This code when prepared will be circulated to officers of this department for information and guidance, and until it has been circulated and the mechanical requirements have been authoritatively specified, I think it desirable that they should not be called on to electrically test any conductors other than those attached to Powder Magazines and Factories.
