and beaten kunker floors, is considered to be quite unsuited to the heavy rainfall and damp climate of the Wynaad.

3. The present plan provides stone in mortar for foundations and superstructure, the floors of the main building are to be of asphalte on concrete, and the roofing of Mission tiles on Vengay wood-work, with bamboo mats nailed to the lower side of the rafters. The flooring of the kitchen and latrine is to be of brick concrete in mud, well rammed.
