Circular Memorandum by the Government of India, Military Department.

The Secretary of State having brought to the notice of the Government of India that, notwithstanding the several existing orders on the subject, cases still occur of warrant and non-commissioned officers on the Unattached List arriving in England unprovided with last-pay and pension certificates, it is notified that, unless in cases of extreme urgency, no warrant or non-commissioned officer will in future be allowed to leave India on furlough or when retiring on pension, without having in his possession a last-pay or pension certificate.

2. All warrant and non-commissioned officers will consequently be required to produce their last-pay or pension certificates to the staff officer at the port of embarkation.

3. In the case of men arriving at the port of embarkation without these documents, the staff officer will communicate the fact by deferred telegram, if necessary, to the head of the Department concerned, and request a reply; and when a warrant or non-commissioned officer is specially permitted to embark without waiting for his last-pay or pension certificate, arrangements should be made to send it, as soon as possible, direct to the Under Secretary of State for India, India Office, London, the warrant or non-commissioned officer being furnished with a brief memorandum to the effect that this will be done.

4. Heads of Departments will take measures to acquaint warrant and non-commissioned officers serving under them of this circular, and explain to them the inconvenience to which they may be subject, on arrival in England, without the necessary authority to enable the India Office to issue their pay or pension. Executive officers will also be careful to see that warrant and non-commissioned officers are in possession of all necessary papers before quitting their stations.

By order,

G. M. Waller

Offg. Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

No. 558A. ^{Pensions} _{Warrant Officers}, dated 15th March 1883.

Circular Memorandum by the Government of India, Military Department.

The Secretary of State having brought to the notice of the Government of India that, notwithstanding the several existing orders on the subject, cases still occur of warrant and non-commissioned officers on the Unattached List arriving in England unprovided with last-pay and pension certificates, it is notified that, unless in cases of extreme urgency, no warrant or non-commissioned officer will in future be allowed to leave India on furlough or when retiring on pension, without having in his possession a last-pay or pension certificate.

2. All warrant and non-commissioned officers will consequently be required to produce their last-pay or pension certificates to the staff officer at the port of embarkation.

3. In the case of men arriving at the port of embarkation without these documents, the staff officer will communicate the fact by deferred telegram, if necessary, to the head of the Department concerned, and request a reply; and when a warrant or non-commissioned officer is specially permitted to embark without waiting for his last-pay or pension certificate, arrangements should be made to send it, as soon as possible, direct to the Under Secretary of State for India, India Office, London, the warrant or non-commissioned officer being furnished with a brief memorandum to the effect that this will be done.

4. Heads of Departments will take measures to acquaint warrant and non-commissioned officers serving under them of this circular, and explain to them the inconvenience to which they may be subject, on arrival in England, without the necessary authority to enable the India Office to issue their pay or pension. Executive officers will also be careful to see that warrant and non-commissioned officers are in possession of all necessary papers before quitting their stations.
