GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following papers:—

From Colonel H. D. CLOETE, Inspector General of Police, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 6th June 1883, No. 2901.

I have the honor to forward the enclosed correspondence for the favorable consideration of Government. Section 11 of the Civil Travelling Allowance Code presses very hardly on all officers provided with elephants. Moreover these officers do not always use their elephants, and it seems very hard that they should be deprived of half their allowances when they actually do not use the elephants. It would be better to abolish the animals and allow officers to make their own arrangements for conveyance of kit, &c., giving them their full travelling allowance.

ENCLOSURES.

From Major C. A. PORTEOUS, Acting Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Northern Range, to the Inspector-General of Police, Madras, dated Waltair, 29th May 1883, No. 654.

In forwarding the accompanying letter from the Superintendent of Police, Ganjam District, No. 626, dated 23rd May 1883.

relative to the deduction of half of Mr. Meredith's travelling allowance per diem under Section 11 of the Civil Travelling Allowance Code, because he is provided with the means of locomotion (elephants), I have the honor to submit that the provisions of this section fall very hard upon all officers of this range, who are provided with one or two elephants for the carriage of their tents when travelling in the Hill Tracts.

Owing to continual ascents and descents on the ghâts, things slipping off or being torn off by the thick jungle, it is seldom that officers can put any other loads on their elephants but their tents. For the carriage of everything else (furniture, crockery, stores, &c.), coolies have to be used, and as these carry very small loads, a large number of them is required, thus making travelling very expensive.

An officer requires at least twenty coolies a-day for his kit, &c.; this, at the lowest computation of 3 annas per cooly, makes at once Rs. 3-12-0. Often more coolies are required, and they have to be paid 5 or 6 annas each for longer distances performed. It will thus be seen that the daily allowance does not even cover the expenditure on account of cooly hire.

2. Besides, it has to be borne in mind that all the Hill Tracts of this range are exceedingly unhealthy to both Europeans and Natives. Servants have not only to be well clad and often fed at their masters' expense, but every man has to receive double batta, and it is even then with the very greatest difficulty that servants can be induced to accompany their masters into these pestiferous jungles, and when there, to remain.

It was the great difficulty and expense attendant on travelling in these Hill Tracts that induced Government to supply officers of this range with elephants, as a special case, without any extra charge. The deduction now therefore of half travelling allowance (to pay wholly or in part for the upkeep of these animals) deprives officers of all the advantages of the boon formerly granted.

3. The Government has been good enough to lay it down (Section 6) as a fundamental principle that travelling allowance "is not to be a source of profit;" at the same time, I am sure, that it is not intended that officers should lose by their travelling, and that the allowance made for that purpose should be such as would cover all an officer's actual travelling expenses; half travelling allowance in the Hill Tracts does not do so.

I therefore beg your favorable consideration of Mr. Meredith's case, as well as of the cases of all the officers of this range on whom this rule bears.

From H. G. YOUNG, Esq., Acting Superintendent of Police, Ganjam District, to the Inspector-General of Police, Madras (through the Deputy Inspector-General), dated Chatrapur, 23rd May 1883, No. 626.

Rule 1, paragraph 66, page 35, of the Civil Travelling Allowance Code sanctions double batta per diem to all officers in the Agency Tracts of the Northern Circars. By virtue of this provision, Mr. Meredith, the Assistant Superintendent of Police of the Balliguda Agency Tracts, is entitled to Rs. 8 a-day. But paragraph 11, page 6, of the Code admits only half the travelling allowance when an officer is provided with the means of locomotion. As Mr. Meredith is provided with Government elephants, he is entitled to only 4 rupees per diem. I have the honor to observe that, considering the heavy cost of living and moving in the hills, the allowance of Rs. 4 a-day will not cover his actual expenses, and consequently request that you will be good enough to move Government to authorize him to draw the batta he was entitled to before the Code came into operation.

In reply to your endorsement, No. 1182, dated the 21st June 1883, referring a letter (herewith returned) from the Inspector-General of Police for my report as to the number of officers in the Presidency who would be affected by Section 11 of the Civil Travelling Allowance Code, I have the honor to state that I am unable to give the information, as the records of this office do not show what officers are provided with the means of locomotion at the expense of the State. I am aware that officers of the Salt Department travel by Government boats in certain districts, as this is stated in the letter from the Commissioner of Salt Revenue recorded in the Proceedings of Government, No. 1415, Revenue Department, dated 30th October 1880.

2. I respectfully beg to suggest that the Heads of the several Departments may be requested to report to this office the officers in their departments who are provided with the means of locomotion at the expense of the State, when a statement for all departments will be prepared and submitted to Government.
