READ—the following letter from JOHN INGLIS, Esq., Assistant Engineer, to the Chief Engineer and Secretary to Government, Public Works Department, dated Madras, 8th December 1883 :—

I have the honor to draw your attention to the following case :— I have come out to Madras as Assistant Engineer in the Public Works Department. My passage was originally taken in the B. I. S. N. Co.'s ship Dacca, leaving London on October 3rd. At that date I was laid up with an attack of typhoid fever, and got a medical extension of leave, and an intimation that unless I arrived in Madras on or before December 3rd my Indian pay would only commence from the date of my arrival. In order to comply with this intimation, I got my passage in the first steamer by which I could possibly sail, viz., the Chyebassa, leaving London on October 31st, and due in Madras on December 4th, but which the agents in London informed me might under ordinary circumstances arrive in Madras before that date. The steamer arrived in Madras on the 7th instant, on which day I reported my arrival, being three days overdue, which overtime an enclosed letter from Messrs. Binny and Co. will confirm. The whole of my leave at home was spent in bed, as I was suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, caught when I was out on duty, during my practical course in Scotland; and as I think I have done my best to arrive in Madras by December 3rd, I hope you will take these facts into consideration when considering the subject of my being entitled to arrears of pay.
