It is clear that the allowances in question cannot be claimed as a matter of right, but looking to the peculiar circumstances of the late company's establishment, and the fact that the number of individuals concerned is not large, it is considered that the allowances may be granted as a

I do not think they can be granted. The parties are I presume entitled to share in the sum set apart for compensation to employees whose services were dispensed with on the works being transferred but the claim cannot be admitted as against Govt.

Requesting sanction for the disbursement of gratuity at 20/8 to each of the ~~same~~ to enable them to return to the place where their services were engaged.

To W.

From a copy of Agent's Rules obtained from the Office of the Examiner of Railway Accounts, it is observed that the Rule (No. 62) quoted by the Executive Engineer simply lays down the Travelling Allowances admissible on general duties, but no definite rule can be found which provides Travelling Allowances to employees to return to the places where their services were entertained, although certainly there are rules which admit of such allowances to employees to take up first appointments in the Kurnool Company (Rule 69).

2. The Allowances claimed are inadmissible under the rules of the P.W. Department.
