the P.W. grants is well under a lakh of rupees. It will not appreciably add to the work of this Office to take over the accounts. Of course we shall require the additional staff which an additional regular Madras division would have given us and which is not much.

For remarks

I was not an idea of the amount of the P.W. expenditure in Coorg of late years

Office of the Examiner, P. & A. Accounts,

Madras, 2nd March 1883.

My dear Colonel,

Your note & enclosure re-enclosed.

We have just succeeded in finding a paper which gives the information which was wanting regarding the outlay in Coorg in 1882/83 in my former note on this subject. I must confess I am astonished at its amount. I imagined it had been trifling.
