The Resident in Mysore sends up a promotion recommendation roll in which the name of Captain Kensington is brought forward for promotion to 2d. grade Executive Engineer.

Captain Kensington is on the Madras list of Executive Engineer's 3d. grade, - but his relative position on that list has not yet been fixed. It is now necessary that a decision should be come to on this point.

Captain Kensington's service in the Department counts from January 1871, and he attained his present grade in January 1881. Should his position in the grade be assigned with reference to total service in the Department, he will come in 6th on the list. If, however, the date of his promotion to the 3rd grade be taken as the guide, his position will be 3rd on the list.

the proper course to be adopted is to fix his relative position with reference to the date of his last promotion. If this be approved, Captain Kensington will come in below Mr Grant and above Mr Hughes; the last named officer having been promoted to the 3rd grade in October 1881, or 9 months later than Captain Kensington.

It is proposed to dispose of the application in the terms of the accompanying draft order.

Capt. Kensington R.E.

The Assistant to the Resident in Mysore sends up a Promotion Recommendation Roll in which Captn Kensington's name is brought forward.

I don't know that any action in this matter is now possible, though in justice to Capt. Kensington it might be well to decide the exact position he is to hold on the Madras List relatively to other officers of his standing, & to inform him of same.

In the case of transfers of this sort from other Provinces some one must suffer, and it is a pity, when the transfers were mooted, some "modus operandi" in the matter of the future promotion of the officers concerned was not decided on.

In my own case, the Govt of Madras were pleased to recommend that I should receive compensation (in the shape of a personal allowance) for loss of position consequent on my transfer, but the Govt of India would not hear of it. Nor would they consent to my transfer back to their Local Administration List, advancing the curious one-sided argument that, supposing there were vacancies on that list, a transfer might not be allowable "with due consideration to the interests of the officers who belong to that list".

Now, no one could for reasonably complain of my resuming, on return from furlough, my position on a list to which I had always belonged, whereas my transfer to Madras List was directly detrimental to old officers on a list to which I had never belonged. Further, they had put it on paper that my "absence on furlough" would "not operate to the injury of" my "permanent position" in the P. W. Department" — and as a fact the action taken has resulted in my losing pay, position, and prospects which I can never recover. 2 if not 3 S.E.ships to and which I would have been entitled in due course have long been permanently filled by officers, my juniors when I received the above "Guarantee".

I hope I may be excused for saying all this here, but it goes to show that Capt. Kensington need not expect any relief from India, supposing him to be entitled to any, which apparently he is not. ——

The Mysore Govt. may perhaps be asked to send Captain Kensington's "history of Services" when his position on the Madras Gradation List can be fixed.

In assigning relative position on this List, it will have to be considered whether the guide should be

(a) Date of joining the Dept., or

(b) Date of promotion to grade.

There is a third alternative — to which, however, I do not think much weight should be attached. It is this — Captain Kensington having been brought on the Madras List of 3rd Grade Ex: Engineers should come in at the bottom of the Grade, officers already on this List, being held to have

'Superior claims to precedence. Dismissing this alternative from consideration, I think (b) should be the guide.

Under this arrangement, Captain Kensington would supersede some Madras officers who entered the Dept. before him, but this would be unavoidable.

Captain Kensing complains that has himself been thus superseded by officers in other parts of India. This was equally unavoidable.

When an officer is placed on a certain list, his promotion can be regulated by that list alone. He may happen to be fortunate and rise rapidly as compared with officers on other lists. On the other hand, his promotion may be slow. As in the former case he

3/ would not think of surrendering any of the steps which he had acquired, so in the latter he would have no claim to compensation for slowness of promotion.

& 2014 W

Exceptionally applying these principles to Captain Kensington's case, there seems no immediate prospect of his promotion on the Madras list, there being several officers - two at least - above him on the List.

Captain Kensington's position on the Gradation List has now to be assigned. In reference to which please see my note in the file dated 23. 4. 84. If alternative (b) be adopted, Captain Kensington will come in between Mr. Grant and Mr. Hughes.

After careful consideration, it seems to me that the fairest way to decide Captain Kensington's position on the Gradation List is to take the date of his entry into the 3d grade of E. E.

Please draft brief note to that effect, for circulation, — based on your remarks quoted above.
