NOTE OF REMARKS.

1. The accompanying plan and estimate provide for improving the Police Superintendent's Office at Vizagapatnam. The estimate amounts to
Rs. 3,725.

2. The Office is said to be an old Dutch double storied building - the upper story does not extend over the whole of the lower - The roofs are terraced. The roof of the upper story is in such disrepair as to require total renewal
including woodwork.
The uncovered lower roof possesses sound beams and joists but 1872/11

T. I agree with your remarks, more especially with what you say regarding the long valley between the two front roofs. A line is laid further along this valley than it ever been provided, & leakage & dampness must result.
The estimate does not commend itself to me, but the S.L. has passed it & is responsible for the details, so it may be sanctioned. C.D.
14.11.11

The masonry portion of it must be renewed. It is also intended to raise, or rather, to increase the height of the walls of the upper story, and to add ventilators and a verandah, Bengal terrace, on two sides.

The stable and store shed are to be retiled and white-washed.

3. The roof of the upper story is to be pent, tiled; and the arrangement is such that there will be two long lines of pent roofing running parallel to the adjacent inclined planes forming an umbrella valley 41 ft. long over the wall on which their lowermost edges rest. Without entering further into circumstances, is not this defect sufficient to condemn an gording, tiled roof?

4. An examination of the plan and estimate shows that it is intended the posts supporting the Bengal terrace should rest on the lower terrace which does receive no special strengthening for the purpose.

5. Subject to approval, would it not be far better to adopt terrace roofing for the upper story since it is to be feared no satisfactory arrangement of tiled roofing can be found in this case? — The rainfall at Vizagapatnam is moderate.

Must not the proposed Bengal terracing be given up if proper support be not given to the posts? — Weather boards over doors and windows would perhaps answer quite well.
