Military Works.

READ—the following papers:—

From Colonel H. L. PRENDERGAST, R.E., Superintending Engineer, V Circle, to the Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, dated Chepāk, 23rd November 1883, No. 3032.

I have the honor to submit, for sanction, plan and estimate of Rs. 10,050, for converting the Racket Court in Fort St. George into a covered gymnasium. The work is entered as item 4 in the schedule of Major Military Works, Appendix to G.O., No. 3002 W., dated 24th October 1883.

3 Plans.
1 Detailed estimate.
2 Abstract estimates.
1 Report.
1 Specification.

2. The walls of the Racket Court not being sufficiently strong to bear the weight of the roof, it was proposed at first to build the supporting columns on the outer side of the walls as drawn on the plan. But a saving of Rs. 1,060 has been effected by moving the columns to the inside of the walls. The alteration is shown dotted in on the plan.

From the same officer, dated Chepāk, 15th February 1884, No. 3974.

With reference to your memorandum, No. 2373 C., dated 1st December 1883, I have the honor to forward the estimate for the gymnasium in Fort St. George with provision made for ceiling planks.

2. It is thought that it will be best, to fix the ceiling under the tie-rods, in having the ceiling joists attached by wire to the tie-rods, so as to moderate the heat in the building and lessen the strain on the roof in times of strong wind. The estimate is now raised from Rs. 10,050 to Rs. 11,570.

With reference to the accompanying draft sanctioning above, I venture to urge desirableness of pointing out to N.E. the advisability of having long anchor-bolts to the timbers, as well
as wind-ties on the corrugated sheets.
Madras is often visited by cyclonic storms, & in the building as designed precautions against damage to roof are very necessary. Such necessary adjuncts to this roof may not be overlooked, but the Specification says
nothing about them. —

With the plank ceiling as designed a tie king rod from vertex of roof to centre of tie rod between feet of struts strikes me as necessary. Without the ceiling such was not required.
