There appears to be no objection to the required advance being sanctioned by Government; but as the work is said to be nearly completed, I would suggest that Accounts of the work already done be called for, the cost of the same being debited direct to the work, the difference only to Miscellaneous Advances— if however it be not possible to get in the Accounts till completion of work, or before the close of March 1885, the whole amount should at present be debited to Miscellaneous Advances leaving the adjustment to work
