MADRAS, 31st March 1885.

Sir,

I have the honour to report that owing to circumstances entirely beyond my control I did not return to Madras in February last until half a day beyond my extent of leave, and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts has thought proper to decline to audit the proportion of my monthly salary for that day.

2. I was coming to Madras from Calcutta and booked my passage by the French Mail Steamer leaving that Port on the 31st January being under the impression that she would arrive here on 3rd February. A bad Tide and a good deal of delay was experienced in the Hughli, but on leaving the Sandheads on the 1st

February it was announced by the Officers of the Ship that we should arrive in Madras at daybreak on the 4th and my intention was to go straight on to the Harbour & Works and to report myself in the Office. Even on the evening of the 3rd February, when approaching Madras, the Captain of the Ship stated we should positively be anchored in Madras Harbour by 8.0 A.M. on the following morning.

3 But some misdirection had been given or some mistake made as to the course to be steered, or a current had driven the ship out of her way, for on the following morning no land was to be seen, no one knew where the ship was, and consequently we were not anchored in the Madras Harbour until the afternoon of the 4th of February when I immediately reported myself to the Superintendent at the Harbour Office.

4 I should have arrived on the morning instead of in the afternoon of the 4th of February; and I have to request the favour, that in accordance with Rule 7 of Section 72 of The Civil Service Code, the penalty attaching to my having unintentionally overstayed my leave half a day may be remitted.

+ This is in respect to the penalty with respect to interruption of duty.

I have the honour to be Sir

Yours most obedient servant
