of this date.

I do not consider it advisable
to build houses for officers except in special cases, and I certainly would not build them for Sub. Div. officers, who may very often, as for point
at, be sometimes a natives.

As regards the particular Sub.
Division for which the P. D.
proposes to build houses, we have previously for many years without them, even when the Sub division was "Rangas"
and I think we may do so in this same way.

4. The ground plan of the residence shows a center room, 24' x 14', with a bed room, 18' x 14', on either side, and two small verandah rooms adjoining each bed room. With the exception of the spaces taken up by the verandah rooms, a verandah, 9' outside width, runs around the building. - Subject to approval, there appears to be no good reason for the present arrangement of the verandah rooms - Why

The roof of the residence is to consist of flat and plain tiles and palungra rafters on trusses.

ORDER—dated 23rd April 1885, No. 960 W., Public Works.

These papers refer to proposals submitted by the Superintending Engineer, VI Circle, for constructing residences for sub-divisional officers at Mannārgudi, Tiruturai-pūndi, and Mayavaram, in the Tanjore district.

2. Experience has satisfied the Government that it is inconvenient and undesirable for the State to undertake the construction of residences for its officers, except, in special cases, where the circumstances are of an exceptional character. The Government certainly do not consider it necessary to recommend the construction of dwelling-houses at sub-divisional stations, to the charge of which it is far from impossible that native assistant engineers or subordinates may be posted; in which case the residences, if provided, would probably be unoccupied.

3. In the particular sub-divisions for which the Superintending Engineer, VI Circle, now proposes to build houses, the officers in charge have for many years arranged without such accommodation, even when the sub-divisions were "ranges;" and it is considered that similar arrangements may continue to be made for the future.

4. The sum of Rs. 10,000 provided in the preliminary issue of the Provincial budget for 1885-86 for dwelling-houses for sub-divisional officers at Tiruturai-pūndi and Mannārgudi will accordingly be withdrawn.
