ORDER—dated 10th July 1886, No. 1426, Public.

In April 1880, the Director of Public Instruction recommended the adoption of a rule requiring any educational officer wishing to undertake private tuition to report to his immediate superior the nature of such tuition and the time he proposed to devote to it, and authorizing the Principal of the College or the Inspector of the Division concerned, if satisfied that this additional work would not interfere with the legitimate duties of the applicant, to grant the necessary permission, subject to the Director's approval.

2. The Government were unwilling to lay down any general rule, but left it to the Director of Public Instruction to dispose of all such applications with due regard to the interests of the public service. The Government of India, however, with reference to these proceedings, forwarded certain correspondence with the Government of Bombay, in which it was decided by the Governor-General in Council that the rule laid down by Her Majesty's Secretary of State in 1868, that no officer in the public service should be allowed to receive fees except under the special previous sanction of the Government of India, applied to the case of Government Professors and Schoolmasters, and that such officers should not be allowed to receive fees for private tuition except with the previous sanction of the Government of India. Subsequently exceptions were made in cases where private teachers were not available and where the instruction to be given was only in vernacular languages to Government officers, and also in the case of schoolmasters on salaries not exceeding Rs. 100 a month, on the understanding that any such employment should be considered and sanctioned by the Inspector concerned; and that a schoolmaster should not be permitted to give private lessons to a pupil in his own class.

3. The officers of the Financial Department are also prohibited, by rule 5, chapter 78, of the Civil Account Code, from "accepting any fee or remuneration for auditing accounts, or for any other work, save with the express consent of the Governor-General in Council."

4. Lastly, rule 5 (1), chapter II, of the same code declares that, unless otherwise distinctly provided, the whole time of a public officer must be held to be paid for by the State.

5. In some departments there are fixed rules on the subject; for instance, in the Medical Department officers are allowed to engage in private practice, except when they happen to hold certain special appointments.

6. It does not appear that in the public service generally the principle laid down by the Secretary of State in 1868 and by the Civil Account Code has been specially promulgated and enforced, and as there seems in consequence to be some danger of misunderstanding in the matter, His Excellency the Governor in Council resolves to lay it down as a standing rule that, unless authorized to do so by any existing rule or order of Government, no officer in the public service shall accept any remuneration from any other Government, body or individual.
