center room, $20\frac{1}{2}$ ft. $\times$ $20\frac{1}{2}$ ft., and a room for the clerks, $20\frac{1}{2}$ ft. $\times$ $20\frac{1}{2}$ ft.

coats of plastering on top, with an plastered ceiling. This is also the description of roofing to be adopted for the front and rear verandahs of the upper story. The three rooms of the upper story are to be roofed in with Mangalore tiles over teak rafters and trusses. The ceiling of teak planks is to run between rafters and rafters.
4. The proposed building appears well and fully to meet all requirements in this case and, subject to approval, may be accepted.
Some of the minor details of the drawings now submitted are not strictly accurate but do not call for special notice. - The scantlings of all the timbers for the proposed building are correct. The rates are fair. - It is stated that the proposed work can, probably, be completed within six months from the date of its commencement.
5. The plans and estimates are countersigned by the Inspector General.

Police, and by the Commissioner
