SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

A. B. SAMPSON,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

Proceedings (Accounts and Finance) for April 1880, Nos. 309-314, in which it was decided that temporary appointments on more than Rs. 250 a month, which are not likely to be permanent, and the deputation of officers on any temporary duty with an increase to their pay raising it above Rs. 5,000 a year, do not require the sanction of the Secretary of State, and need not be reported.

Proceedings (Accounts and Finance) for November 1881, Nos. 1973-74, directing that temporary appointments on more than Rs. 250 a month, which may be sanctioned by the Government of India, should be reported for the confirmation of the Secretary of State in the usual annual statement of increases which is sent to the Secretary of State after the close of the year.

Proceedings (Accounts and Finance) for May 1882, No. 559.

Resolution.—In supersession of the foregoing orders, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to lay down the following rules:—

- (i) An officer is said to be on deputation when he is detached on special temporary duty for the performance of which there is no permanently or temporarily sanctioned appointment. A temporary appointment is an appointment carrying a definite rate of pay and sanctioned for a limited time.
- (ii) A temporary appointment, if the cost is Provincial, may be sanctioned by a Local Government without reference to the Government of India, provided the pay of the appointment does not exceed Rs. 3,000 a year. If the cost is Imperial, a temporary appointment requires the sanction of the Government of India, but if the pay of the appointment does not exceed Rs. 3,000 a year it will be sufficient to include it in the statement of fresh charges submitted to the Government of India, unless it should last for more than a year; in the latter case a special application must be made for the sanction of the Supreme Government.
- (iii) Temporary appointments on more than Rs. 250 a month will be reported to Her Majesty's Secretary of State in the Annual Statement of Increases and Decreases of expenditure, or separately in each instance, according to the nature of the case.
- (iv) An officer may be deputed on special duty by a Local Government without reference to the Government of India and without limit of time if the cost of the deputation is Provincial and if the remuneration granted to the officer is not at a higher rate than Rs. 3,000 a year. An officer may not be deputed on special duty by a Local Government if the cost is Imperial without the sanction of the Government of India.
- (v) An officer, no matter what his salary, may be deputed on special duty by a Local Government for a period not exceeding six months, provided the cost of the deputation is Provincial, and he may be allowed by the Local Government to draw the pay or salary which, but for his deputation, he would have continued to draw either as substantive or officiating. If the duties involve a decided increase of work or responsibility in comparison with the duties of his regular appointment, or require a change of station, the Local Government may in addition allow the officer to draw a deputation allowance at a rate not exceeding one-fifth of salary, subject to a maximum limit of Rs. 10 a day.

If it is expected that the deputation should last for more than six months, or if it does actually last for more than six months, a special application for the sanction of the Government of India must be made.

Deputation allowances are granted independently of any travelling allowance which may be admissible.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be communicated to the several Departments of the Government of India, the several Local Governments, and the Comptroller-General and the several Accountants-General and Comptrollers.

Ordered also, that the rules above sanctioned be inserted in the Pay and Acting Allowance Code in lieu of Section 57 (1).

By order,

Under-Secy. to the Govt. of India.

No. 900, dated the 9th May 1884.

RESOLUTION—by Department of Finance and Commerce.

READ the undermentioned papers regarding the powers of the Government of India and of Local Governments in sanctioning deputations and temporary appointments and regarding the rates of deputation allowance:—

Proceedings in this Department (Pay and Allowances) for November 1877, Nos. 28-34, ruling that the deputation allowance of an Uncovenanted Officer deputed to a distance for a long period on special duty should not exceed Rs. 3 a day with travelling allowance.

Proceedings in this Department for the month of June 1878 (Pay and Allowances), Nos. 221-223, empowering Local Governments and the Agents to the Governor-General for Rajputana and Central India to grant a deputation allowance not exceeding Rs. 10 a day for periods of absence from their stations, besides actual travelling expenses, to officers deputed to attend on Native Chiefs or other distinguished personages on journeys.

Proceedings for September 1878 (Expenditure), Nos. 423-424, containing Resolution No. 2679, dated 31st August 1878, in the last paragraph of which it was said that, except in cases provided for by special orders, the sanction of the Government of India should be obtained to the grant of remuneration in addition to the fixed pay of any public officer.

Proceedings (Pay and Allowances) for January 1879, Nos. 16-17, empowering Local Governments to sanction a deputation allowance of one-fifth of salary up to a maximum of Rs. 10 a day for the entire period of absence from head-quarters on the duty of serving on a commission of special enquiry in addition to actual travelling expenses.

Proceedings (Expenditure) for April 1879, Nos. 127-128, empowering Local Governments to depute officers on temporary duties and to entertain temporary establishments in any Department, the cost of which is Provincial, without reference to the Government of India, provided the Budget grant is not exceeded.

Proceedings (Expenditure) for August 1879, Nos. 324-325, in which it was explained that the permission to sanction deputations and temporary appointments given by the orders of April 1879 holds good only where the salary is not increased over Rs. 5,000, and if temporary appointments do not last more than six months.

Proceedings (Accounts and Finance) for April 1880, Nos. 309-314, in which it was decided that temporary appointments on more than Rs. 250 a month, which are not likely to be permanent, and the deputation of officers on any temporary duty with an increase to their pay raising it above Rs. 5,000 a year, do not require the sanction of the Secretary of State, and need not be reported.

Proceedings (Accounts and Finance) for November 1881, Nos. 1973-74, directing that temporary appointments on more than Rs. 250 a month, which may be sanctioned by the Government of India, should be reported for the confirmation of the Secretary of State in the usual annual statement of increases which is sent to the Secretary of State after the close of the year.

Proceedings (Accounts and Finance) for May 1882, No. 559.

RESOLUTION.—In supersession of the foregoing orders, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to lay down the following rules:—

- (i) An officer is said to be on deputation when he is detached on special temporary duty for the performance of which there is no permanently or temporarily sanctioned appointment. A temporary appointment is an appointment carrying a definite rate of pay and sanctioned for a limited time.
- (ii) A temporary appointment, if the cost is Provincial, may be sanctioned by a Local Government without reference to the Government of India, provided the pay of the appointment does not exceed Rs. 3,000 a year. If the cost is Imperial, a temporary appointment requires the sanction of the Government of India, but if the pay of the appointment does not exceed Rs. 3,000 a year it will be sufficient to include it in the statement of fresh charges submitted to the Government of India, unless it should last for more than a year; in the latter case a special application must be made for the sanction of the Supreme Government.
- (iii) Temporary appointments on more than Rs. 250 a month will be reported to Her Majesty's Secretary of State in the Annual Statement of Increases and Decreases of expenditure, or separately in each instance, according to the nature of the case.
- (iv) An officer may be deputed on special duty by a Local Government without reference to the Government of India and without limit of time if the cost of the deputation is Provincial and if the remuneration granted to the officer is not at a higher rate than Rs. 3,000 a year. An officer may not be deputed on special duty by a Local Government if the cost is Imperial without the sanction of the Government of India.
- (v) An officer, no matter what his salary, may be deputed on special duty by a Local Government for a period not exceeding six months, provided the cost of the deputation is Provincial, and he may be allowed by the Local Government to draw the pay or salary which, but for his deputation, he would have continued to draw either as substantive or officiating. If the duties involve a decided increase of work or responsibility in comparison with the duties of his regular appointment, or require a change of station, the Local Government may in addition allow the officer to draw a deputation allowance at a rate not exceeding one-fifth of salary, subject to a maximum limit of Rs. 10 a day.

If it is expected that the deputation should last for more than six months, or if it does actually last for more than six months, a special application for the sanction of the Government of India must be made.

Deputation allowances are granted independently of any travelling allowance which may be admissible.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be communicated to the several Departments of the Government of India, the several Local Governments, and the Comptroller-General and the several Accountants-General and Comptrollers.

Ordered also, that the rules above sanctioned be inserted in the Pay and Acting Allowance Code in lieu of Section 57 (1).
