men and eventually secured him. The man secured has given the names of his accomplices.

3. It is very creditable to the Supervisor that he picked the encounter with the gang and rescued what they had taken.

Had it not been for the brave resistance thus offered, the party would have probably made away with not only the Supervisor's office box which contained Government Cash to the extent of Rs 80-8-0 and a cheque for Rs 33-1-0 but with his private property also.
The robbers left behind them, a large knife which fortunately was lost in the struggle or or the Supervisor might have fared badly.

I venture to hope that the Government will be pleased to express their approval of the Supervisor's gallantry.
