The introduction
now into the Madras
P. W. Code of para 140
Chapter II
of the new India Code, would apparently be premature, when two,
or at the most three,
military apprentices
are annually appointed to the Dept.

When the new College scheme comes into full working order, vacancies in the strength of the Upper Sub. estab.
will naturally be

students, - for the number of vacancies to be completed for will have to be notified annually, before the final examination.

In present circumstances, the draft notification making three new appointments
to the permanent u.s. establishment. Should apparently be published.

The @ wants an order of Govt. authorising him to do this.

Please see Chap II para 38
40 of the new Government of India
P.W. D. Code. The introduction of this rule into the Madras Code appears necessary with reference to Code of rules relating to the Constitution and Work of the Madras Civil Engineering College of 7th January 1886.

Orders of Government appear necessary.

" 852 " 16th Feb 1886

The three new appointments to the permanent upper subordinate establishment proposed by the Chief Engineer are approved.

2. The rule in para 40 Chapter II of the Government of India P. H. Code will be introduced into this Presidency when the Madras College of Engineering is prepared to draft into the P. H. Dept.

students who have qualified under the new college scheme. At present a very limited number of military apprentices only are annually appointed to the Dept., and in the circumstances the immediate introduction of the Govt. of India rule into this Presidency would be premature.

appears to be no reason why the vacancies should not be open until then.

If the three military apprentices successfully complete their probation, and if there are no vacancies in June, the men can be brought on as supernumeraries as usual, to be absorbed as opportunities occur.

In these circumstances, please state why you consider the orders of Govt. necessary.
