Note by Lieut.-Col. A. J. Filgate, R.E., Accountant General, P. W. Department,—No. 82G., dated 19th January 1886.

In Public Works Department Circular No. XII of 1883, certain changes in the preparation of the Finance Accounts were introduced. One of these consisted in the limitation of the details of the outlay on original works and repairs to items costing Rs. 10,000 and above, and lumping together under each sub-head the outlay on works and repairs costing less than Rs. 10,000 and more than Rs. 2,500. This arrangement superseded the one then obtaining, under which all items of original works and repairs costing over Rs. 2,500 each were required to be detailed. In advocating the change at the time, I anticipated that some relief in the direction of labor in compilation would be afforded. This expectation has not, however, been realized in practice, and it has moreover been represented to me that it would be more convenient to detail all works and repairs costing more than Rs. 2,500, as the Finance Accounts, from their compactness, are used for constant reference by different officers. Under the circumstances, I beg to suggest a permissive reversion to the practice of detailing outlay on individual works and items of repair costing over Rs. 2,500 each, and the issue of orders to this effect.

RESOLUTION.—The Government of India is pleased to approve of the proposal of the Accountant General, Public Works Department, and to intimate that Local Governments or Administrations may, at their option, permit or require Examiners to revert to the former practice of detailing in the Finance Accounts outlay on individual works and items of repair costing over Rs. 2,500 each, with effect from the year 1885-86.
